Success through Synergy: Connect, Collaborate, Create

4CSD Conference
April 7 – 8, 2016
Doubletree Hotel
555 W. Foothill Blvd.
Claremont CA 91711

Success through Synergy: Connect, Collaborate, Create

4C/SD is excited to announce that this year's conference was planned in collaboration with the Online Education Initiative (OEI). This partnership will allow us to share ideas for developing your online professional development presence for your distance education needs as well as campus wide professional development and community building. If you are new to professional development leadership, please join us for our first-ever, New Professional Development Practitioner's Pre-Conference Workshop on Thursday morning.

Workshop sessions will focus on topics relevant to those who coordinate professional development programs, Distance Education Coordinators, and faculty, staff, and administrators who are involved with distance education. Our keynote speaker will be Dr. Dena Maloney, Superintendent-President at El Camino College. Dr. Maloney will share her perspective on the significance of professional development programs and the importance of providing professional development opportunities that promote successful, synergistic, and collaborative professional development programs.

On Thursday, April 7th, the conference will begin with an optional New Professional Development Practitioner's Pre-Conference Workshop. The conference will officially begin at noon with a fun ice breaker activity, lunch, breakout workshops, and GIFTS (Great Ideas for Training Staff). The evening will conclude with a social hour, dinner, and awards ceremony. The following day, Friday, April 8th, there will be a variety of workshop sessions with colleagues, our keynote speaker, a preview of the new Professional Learning Network, a business meeting, and board elections. You w

(Optional)

Note – Some sessions will be repeated at other time blocks.

SC4: Collaboration, Communication, Culture & Creativity at Sierra College
Turning Professional Development into Improved Performance
Strengthening Your Professional Learning Climate Through New Faculty Training Programs
Cultivating Inclusive Environments Online
Building a Successful DE Professional Development Program: If You Build It, They Will Come

* SC4: Collaboration, Communication, Culture & Creativity at Sierra College
* Turning Professional Development into Improved Performance
Instructional Media: Copyright, Creative Commons, and Create Your Own
* Cultivating Inclusive Environments Online
Re-Envisioning Your Online Course: Using the OEI Rubric for Self-Assessment

Model Best Practices and Technology Every Time You Present!
Developing Guidelines for Training Facilitators
Framing Canvas: Leveraging Canvas for Smart Course Design
LEAP & Management Academy

Paul Steenhausen, Executive Director
Success Center for California Community Colleges

Onboarding at Coast Community College District
Statewide Survey Results on Professional Development Are In!
Staff Development and Online Student Support Services –
Connecting Students and Support
Engaged Faculty + Active Classroom = Successful Students:
BuildiMC P KACIi EMC Z 54.5(s:)]TJETatewide n 7(3Pro)(3)-4(es)-2(sion)(a)4(l)-(234j

Presenters: Leslie Carr, College of the Canyons; Sharon Beynon, Ventura College; and

You are invited to participate in a special pre-conference workshop just for new professional

Presenters: Josh Breese, Joan Basque, and Susan Lucyga, Sierra College
The Sierra College Staff Development department will share how we provide interest based bargaining/collaborative process training for staff members at every level. Highlights include team building, trust building, and creativity exercises, all of which help create a collaborative working environment.

n ed(w)-all ofcplilh ts6t6n1jver)-8)mplinatg for-2a/st5)d)-4findsinwructdera Presenter: Bob Nash, Coastline Community Co Tf10mp)6Prof)6es)5n CoCommus-4(d)5a)6 inighldnt(ty)6n[c.54(

Presenter: Lene Whitley-Putz, @ONE

This workshop will explore how the Online Education Initiative's Course Design Rubric can be used during course development as a tool for assessing online courses and developing

Presenter: Anna Stirling, @ONE/Mt. San Jacinto College

When discussing content creation; accessibility is something that needs to be part of the conversation. Unfortunately, the task of creating accessible content is one that can seem intimidating or daunting at first thought; however, designing with accessibility in mind can make the task a lot easier to accomplish. During this workshop we'll discuss five things you can do to increasing the usability of your content during (or after) the creation process.

Presenters: Pat James and Michelle Pilati, OEI

The OEI's Course Design Rubric provides a modifiable standard for online course quality that can be adopted locally. How can the Rubric be integrated into local professional development